Welcome to Week 7 (only 3 weeks plus 2 days to go!)
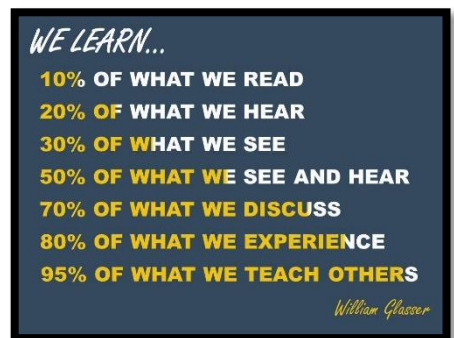

This week we will finish August Wilson's play Fences and begin Tim O'Brien's The Things They Carried – I'm so excited!

To complete Fences, I am asking students to sign up for a Socratic Seminar time slot. There are 12 meeting times available so I hope everyone can find a spot that works for his/her schedule. You will find the sign-ups on this Google Document.

The new unit, beginning Thursday, will have a couple of options to create accountability for the reading. One option is to submit a Quick Write (prompts provided) to Turnitin.com on the assigned day. Or, if you choose, you can join a Zoom meeting with Ms. Boas for a quick meeting to discuss "deep thoughts" 😉

I thought this image was interesting as we finish our Distance Learning. Once again, if you're able, may I encourage you to be part of our quick discussions at the end of each reading section 😊

As always, please see the Website for Meeting Times and links to important documents.

Here is what our last three full weeks will look like for English – I can't believe it's June already!
